Are you looking for funding for this summer? The Tapia Center at Rice is awarding several opportunities to graduate students in need of summer research time on campus. In this program you will work with your own advisors to plan your summer.

- The program runs from May 28 - August 1, 2017. The week of July 2-8 is off for summer break.
- All awardees will meet each week in a roundtable discussion where faculty will also be available as mentors.
- Students should be prepared to make a presentation at the end of the summer to the group showing progress made during the summer.
- Graduate students with financial need will be given first priority.
- Research topics and students from all disciplines are welcome.
- All room and board plus compensation of about $4,000 will be earned by awardees.
- Awardees will live in dorms and act as Resident Assistants for Tapia Camps in the evening.
